

Idaho State
University

Graduate
School

Idaho State
University

Office for Research

Summer Grant Writing Workshop

2025 - ISU Summer Grant Writing Workshop

ISU Graduate School has partnered with the Office of Research to develop a grant writing workshop as an additional benefit for summer student development. This grant writing workshop is intended to develop graduate student knowledge in various aspects of grant writing.

Students should expect to meet the following objectives:

- Understand the fundamentals of grant writing.
- Identify funding opportunities relevant to their research.
- Learn how to craft compelling grant proposals.
- Gain hands-on experience with key proposal components.
- Be able to assist faculty in writing proposals; know how to connect with program directors.

Six meetings, each lasting two to three hours, will make up the two-week training at the Pocatello Campus. In order to fully experience the workshop objectives, attendees will be expected to complete activities in between meetings. The workshop will convene six times from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m., July 14-25.

Through a competitive application process, participants will be chosen. Selected students will receive final meeting dates, times, and modes of delivery. Students who cannot attend every session must forfeit this opportunity because attendance at all meetings is required. The Office for Research Development will host online workshops for the entire campus community during the academic year

This workshop runs informally through the Graduate School; therefore, formal registration through Banner is not required, and institutional credit will not be granted for participating in this workshop.

Call for Applicants:

Graduate students in any Idaho State University graduate program interested in the process of grant writing or who may be slated to assist a faculty member with a grant should apply for this workshop. Those interested should complete the application using the link below. Be prepared to write a statement of interest detailing your current program status and workshop participation goals. A faculty advisor or mentor MUST also complete an online recommendation on your behalf, which can be done through the same link. Applications and faculty recommendations must be submitted by April 30 using the link below. Please note: You must be signed into your browser with your ISU credentials to access this application form.

Stipends:

Graduate students selected to participate in the summer writing workshop will be granted a summer stipend of $1000 paid upon successful completion of the workshop, as determined by the facilitator.

Application: <https://forms.gle/wATFRMuMXUwTEkHq5>